About Career 5 Design

Meet Katie Stern: artist, educator, and advocate for fellow artists. After 20 years of teaching computer graphics, she channeled her boundless energy into creating a thriving art business your customers will enjoy.

Her art engages your soul

Having lived 17 years in the Northwoods, Katie infuses the spirit of the north into her art. Her captivating drawings of loons, wildflowers, and northern lights will resonate deeply with your customers, evoking cherished memories.

Career 5 Design Services

Katie loves craft and vendor fairs, Etsy, and person-to-person sales. She knows her customers and what they like. But equally as important is her promotion of eco-friendly Swedish dish cloths to the art world.

Here's the story

After spending four long months investigating the rabbit hole of digital printing, Katie finally found one printer in Texas who can print her designs onto Swedish dish cloths at a price that allows for retail sales.

Katie buys her blank Swedish dish cloths directly from Sweden and resells them to whoever wants to buy them. She also actively educates other artists on how to get their designs printed onto cloths at a price that allows for retail sales. She has an Instagram following of over 700 artists, and her educational newsletter goes to over 65 artists.

And finally...

Katie recently brought a portion of the printing process into her own home, lowering her costs to the point of making wholesale a reality. And that's why you're hearing from her now!

About your Swedish dish cloth

This sturdy cloth is made of 70% cellulose and 30% cotton. Use it as you would any dish cloth or dust cloth. Here are some helpful hints:

- Always dampen your cloth before using it.
- Using harsh cleaners or detergents will shorten its life.
- When dirty, you can boil it in water for 15 minutes.
- Wash it in the top rack of your dishwasher!
- Toss it in your laundry washing machine, then dry it on your counter.
- It will dry faster than a sponge, making it less likely to grow bacteria. Watch it dry into funny shapes!
- The printed design will eventually fade over days, weeks, or months, depending on how it's used.
- When it's finally ready to be tossed, just compost it. The inks are water-based, and the sponge is fully compostable.
- Your cloth came in a clear, 100% compostable cellulose bag. Please compost or reuse it.

Lremember a budding photographer who accidentally deleted all his files before saving them. He wailed his remorse. I asked him about the best image he lost. "A sunset," he said. I understood. I drew this for all those who remember their favorite summer sunsets.
